The committees shall equitably represent the departments or units within them. Employees who plan to apply in the current cycle for a particular award shall not be eligible to serve on the committee. A committee chairperson for each incentive award program shall be elected by and from the college/unit committee. The chairperson shall charge the committee that members shall only consider the merits of the application. No additional outside information or discussion of position, e.g., instructor vs. tenure track employee, past awards, current salary, etc., may be considered, nor may additional criteria be used. The committee shall review the award applications and shall submit a ranked list of recommended employees to the dean or dean’s representative. In ranking the applicants, committee members shall only consider the merits of the application. All information available to the committee and all deliberations of the committee, except for the ranked list of recommended employees, are to be held in strict confidence.

a. Each committee member shall review all applications and transmit a preliminary ranking to the committee chair. Committee members may rank as many applicants as they deem merit the award, with the highest rank given to the top candidate (i.e., the highest rank equals the number of applicants, N), the next highest rank being N-1, and so on. Applications that are not deemed acceptable for an award by a committee member shall be left unranked in that committee member's rankings.

b. In larger colleges or units, subcommittees may be formed from the committee at-large in the interest of efficient evaluation of the incentive award applications. Each subcommittee must include at least three members, and every member of the committee at-large must serve on a subcommittee. d. Following this discussion, the committee shall use a secret ballot to rank candidates' applications using the procedure outlined in (a) above.

e. A majority of voting committee members present must rank an application for that employee to be eligible for an incentive award.

f. The application with the highest mean rank (i.e., the sum of the applicant's rankings divided by the number of committee members present) shall have the highest priority for an incentive award, the application with the next highest mean rank the next highest priority, and so on, until all applications who received rankings by a majority of committee members present are ranked in order.

g. In the case of T eligible applications with tied mean rank remaining, the procedure outlined in (a) above, with T being the highest possible rank, shall be used to break the ties. The ranking process outlined in (a) above shall be used as many times in succession as necessary until all such ties are resolved and a final ranked list is complete.

h. The committee chair shall transmit this ranked list to the dean or dean's representative, or unit head who reviews and approves the awards. If the selection committee recommends fewer than the number of awards available or if the dean or unit head does not approve an award from the list submitted by the selection committee, then the award(s) shall be retained in the same college or unit for one additional cycle before it is returned to the overall pool for apportionment.

i. For purposes of TIP/RIA selection as stated above, “college” shall also include the group of employees whose primary assignment is in the College of Undergraduate Studies, the College of Graduate Studies, an institute, or center. One TIP and one RIA shall be available to the employees grouped together as described here. The college committee shall consist of a member from each of the units represented.

j. If an employee is selected to receive both TIP and RIA awards in the same academic year, that employee, say, Employee A, shall be asked to choose to receive either the TIP or RIA award and may be eligible to apply for and receive the other Incentive Award in the next academic year. Employee A’s dean shall use the committee rankings to determine which employee should receive the TIP or RIA award that was not chosen by Employee A.
